Pahokee budget is less than expected

By AILSA DEWING

PAHOKEE — A city budget which exceeds last year's by only $110,298, with a millage rate of 8.0, no hike in the garbage rates and an added water charge only for those using more than the minimum gallonage, is proposed by commissioners. Total of the proposed 1981 budget is $1,149,846.56.

A projected 9.5 millage and increases in both water and garbage rates were pared down by commissioners during three weeks of workshops.

With the cooperation of department heads, commissioners have been able to hold the line on most expenses and the budget increases generally reflect higher utility and fuel costs and expected losses in state and federal revenues.

In order to keep garbage rates at the present $6 per month, however, commissioners have called for residential pick ups to be cut back to once a week from twice weekly, to effect savings in personnel, fuel, and maintenance costs.

Garbage and trash disposal problems, however, also include some of the most unpredictable areas in projecting costs. Full-time use of the city incinerator will require repairs to be made and estimates are expected to be obtained this week. Meanwhile, the council has appropriated only $5,000 for trash dumping fees in expectation of operating the incinerator full-time.

In raising the water fees, the council decided against upping the base rate of $6 on the 4,000 minimum gallonage in favor of adding $1 to the rate per 1,000 gallons over the minimum. The increase will provide some $98,000 in revenue plus about $40,000 in added utility taxes.

By increasing the ad valorem millage rate from 4.335 to 8.0, the city will realize $201,033 on this year's taxes next year as compared with $147,079 this year.

The added property taxes will primarily offset two factors: a threatened decrease from $278,969 to $209,013 in federal shared-revenue funds and the possibility that Florida voters will approve increasing next year's basic Homestead Exemption from $5,000 to $15,000 in the Oct. 7 referendum.

According to a tally by City Clerk Betty McCoy, the owner of a $40,000 home who paid the city $125 this year in property taxes will pay $200 under the 8 mill assessment, based on a $15,000 Homestead Exemption.

Departmental budgets submitted to council were barbonees at the start and most were cut even more so during workshop sessions, sacrificing equipment replacement and added personnel funding for the most part, in order to reduce the budget to its lowest feasible amount and hold down the millage rate.

An estimated savings of $12,000, for example, will be made possible by discontinuing the practice of paying electricity bills for seven private mobile homes parked at some city facilities, in exchange for the residents serving as unpaid security guards.

The proposal was among the last to be considered by the council in trying to balance the budget and was contested by some who claim the practice provides the city with "cheap security."

An example of the hold-to-the-line budgeting is provided by the police department's budget which will go up by only $11,049 this year. Of that amount, $6,000 is in added gas and oil allotments, the largest single item increase.

A comparison of some departmental budgets shows: Library, $30,598 for the coming year as compared with $29,458 this year; law enforcement, $312,418 compared with $301,369; parks and recreation, $79,840 compared with $65,850; fire control, $62,701 compared with $60,210; and public works, $356,597 compared with $365,440.

1 dead on US27

SOUTH BAY — A West Avon Park man died from injuries received in an accident on a rain-swept US27 Tuesday, 16.2 miles south of here.

Florida Highway Patrol Troopers J. O. Matheney and D. L. Pursell said Archer Clements, 78, died after being taken to Glades General Hospital, where his widow, Shirley, is still listed in poor condition today.

The troopers said Clements was driving north on the highway in a heavy rain when he swerved into the path of a pickup truck being driven by Bert H. Sutton, Jr., 27, of San Antonio. Sutton was listed in satisfactory condition today.

There were also two children in the Clements auto, according to Matheney and Pursell. Richard Shova, 1, suffered minor lacerations on his nose and Shannon Shova, 2, was uninjured. Both the Clements sedan and the Sutton pickup were total losses.

Joint effort set to find housing

BELLE GLADE — A joint city-county approach to finding more housing for low-income residents will be explored during a meeting at 3 p.m. Monday between city and county officials according to City Commissioner Dorothy Walker.

Miss Walker said the meeting, which is expected to be the first of a series, is the result of a 2 1/2 hour meeting between herself and District Five County Commissioner Bill Bailey.

She said the meeting will include Bailey and herself, Palm Beach County Community Development Director John Green, Belle Glade Community Director Remar Harvin and other city and county officials interested in attending.

"There will also be some residents who are looking for better housing," she said, "and they are expected to speak during the first part of the meeting. There will also be pictures of some of the dilapidated housing now being used to pinpoint the problem."

Miss Walker said the meeting is expected to address the possibilities of single family residences and rental housing that would be government subsidized. Since this will be the first of the meetings, she said she didn't know whether an emphasis would be placed on one or the other.

She emphasized that she and Bailey agreed on the need for more housing and the need for the county and city to cooperate in providing that housing on a subsidized basis.

"The fact a man of Mr. Bailey's stature," Miss Walker said, "recognizes the fact that there's a housing shortage, and is willing to work towards alleviating that shortage," should be a major factor in finding solutions.

She said she had no idea why a joint county-city effort hasn't been attempted previously but that she is following through on one of her campaign pledges of a year ago.

First crack seen in moratorium

SOUTH BAY — There was the good news and then there was the good news Tuesday night when city commissioners saw the first crack in the 2 1/2 year old building moratorium and when found city residents will be getting home mail delivery as of Oct. 1.

Acting City Manager Lomax Harrelle told the commissioners he had been told this week by South Bay Postmaster Thomas Williams that city residents will be eligible for home delivery for the first time ever as of Oct. 1.

Harrelle said there would be no delivery routes and any one wishing to get the home delivery should contact Williams at the Post Office.

The other piece of good news came when Harrelle told the commissioners he has been informed by the county Health Department that largely because of the closing of South Bay Elementary school, the city can now issue 43 residential building permits, the first city has been eligible for since the moratorium was imposed by the Health Department.

Harrelle said the only sewer connections that have been allowed over the past 2 1/2 years has been in instances when a swap was possible because one connection was broken and another added.

He said the Health Department has issued permits for about a half dozen septic tanks to be installed during that period.

"It won't matter as of Jan. 1," Harrelle said, "because then we'll have our work completed on the sewer system and the moratorium should be lifted, but right now we need 'em (the new buildings)."

City Zoning Board Chairman Byron Walker, who was present at the commission meeting, said the new building permits the city can now issue will probably have an effect on the zoning board and the board will begin meeting monthly now, with the first meeting being scheduled for next Wednesday evening at 7 p.m.

Walker said the zoning board will meet regularly on the second Wednesday of the month so it can take action on anything that comes before the city commission on its first meeting of the month.

BELLE GLADE — With less than a week remaining before city election next Tuesday, City Clerk June Boglioli said all is in readiness for the Belle Glade's 4,292 voters to mark their preferences in the Group Two race.

The Group Two contest between incumbent Mayor Commissioner Ralph Kirk and challenger Charles Goodlett will be the only decision the voters will be asked to make when they come to the polling place Tuesday at the city's Fire Station.

In the Group One race, incumbent Tom Altman is going unchallenged for the first time since he first ran for office in 1974. He will be entering his fourth consecutive two-year term on the commission. He has served two one-year terms as mayor.

Both races are at-large and non-partisan, meaning the candidates may live anywhere in the city rather than in a particular borough and they don't run on a party ticket.

Kirk is seeking his sixth consecutive term. He has been mayor the past two years. Goodlett is attempting to gain his first elective position. He was a city employee for 32 years, serving as a Police Department patrolman, police chief and city public safety director.

Because Kirk and Goodlett are the only persons seeking election, the possibility of a runoff the following Tuesday has been ruled out. Altman has drawn opposition two weeks ago from John L. Asberry Jr., but Asberry dropped out last week, explaining in a letter to Mrs. Boglioli that he could no longer be a candidate "due to unforeseen circumstances."

If Kirk and Goodlett are the only competitors in the city race, voters will find no shortage of candidates from which to choose when they go to their precinct polling places to vote in the first primary election Tuesday.

Mock said he felt the reports were biased and told less than the full truth because none of them had reported both sides of the story. He said he wanted to meet with Bailey and the others to attempt to come up with ways to counter the bad publicity for the area.

Speakers bureau suggested

BELLE GLADE — A Glades-wide joint effort in setting up a speakers' bureau and providing county area newsmen with a rounded tour of the area were among the suggestions brought up Friday to improve the image of the area in metropolitan news media.

The suggestions came up during a meeting between District Five County Commissioner Bill Bailey, his aide, David Goodlett, Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce officials and Belle Glade City Commissioner Dorothy Walker.

Chamber President Rupert "Bubba" Mock Jr. had called Bailey's office to set up the discussion and the NBC documentary on migrant workers and

For somebody who didn't think much of arithmetic in school, it sure is peculiar how often I find something interesting or funny in a list of numbers somebody might. There was, for instance, the fact that while about 7 per cent of the county's population live

A prime example was contained in a story I did last week after playing around with a list of figures passed along by Jackie Winchester's office. There was, for instance, the fact that while about 7 per cent of the county's population live in the Glades, we have only 2.87 per cent of the registered voters.

Carrying out those figures a little further, I found we didn't even have 1 per cent of the county's white voters but we had a whopping big 18.2 per cent of the county's black voters.

Considering the fact that darned near every politician who hits the Glades around election time in search of votes virtuously ignores the blacks, I'd say that set of figures isn't particularly well known.

Then, there was the news release from the USDA that came in last week on agricultural land in the United States that's owned by foreign investors.

Of course, one of the first things I looked up was how many acres are owned in Florida by foreigners. Turns out our foreign-owned farmland acreage is among the highest in the nation, sitting at 202,101 acres.

At that amount, Florida ranks seventh, but the funny thing was, of the six states with more foreign-owned farmland than us, four were pretty close. Then you hit Texas and they have 413,710 acres owned by the outsiders. Well, what can you expect. Texans do everything big, right?

Well, Texas wasn't in first place, it was second, leaving the natural question of who was first.

That, dear friends, is Maine, a state I never thought of as having that much agricultural land to begin with but which is rated first in the nation with the dubious distinction of having 951,576 acres owned by foreigners.

Well, I'll have to give myself credit. What, sez I, could consume that many acres in Maine except the Maine woods? And who would be the largest owners there? Seems to me it would have to be the Canucks.

Well, I turned over to the next table, where the figures showed the number of acres in the United States owned by owners of various national persuasions . . . and of the 2,175,546 acres of farmland in the U.S. that are owned by foreigners. Canadians own more than half that amount, with a total investment of 1,187,036 acres.

We . . . like someone here in the office said, if a big chunk of America has to be owned by foreigners, who better than the Canadians?

The problem with that kind of thinking is seen in the second largest owner . . . and you'll never guess who that could be so I'll give you a clue. Without spelling out the name of the country itself, 254,996 acres of the United States is owned, according to the list, by citizens of the Netherlands Antilles.

Say, what? The Netherlands Antilles . . . you know, the Dutch West Indies. That's a group of islands made up of Aruba, Bonaire, Curacao, Saba, St. Eustatius and part of St. Martin.

Considering the population of the country is 194,066, that means every person there owns 1.5 acres of our country, assuming even distribution, of course.

Something tells me that ain't the case though. Something tells me the Netherlands Antilles has some particularly favorable laws for foreign corporations, something like Liechtenstein, which owns 38,019 acres.

That, dear hearts, is only 765 acres less than make up the whole principality of Liechtenstein itself. The 14,757 subjects of Liechtenstein are even better off than the people in the Netherlands Antilles. Each of the Liechtensteins own more than 2.5 acres of American farmland.

Which gives rise to the possibility Liechtenstein may be planning to rent out their own country and move everybody to America.

That's the humorous way of looking at it though. The serious, and more likely case, is that there's a lot of foreign countries that aren't so friendly toward the United States buying up a lot of acreage here and using countries like Canada, the Netherlands Antilles and Liechtenstein as fronts.

I don't know how other people feel about that possibility but I don't think it's funny worth a hoot.

I don't know where in the United States Yugoslavia has its holdings but I find it hard to get worked up over one acre being owned by anybody.

Positively

It's not an idea, as the old song put it, of accentuating the positive and eliminating the negative. The need, a crying need, is to just balance all the recent negative treatment of the Glades in regional and national news coverage with at least a smattering of the positive.

A good first step was taken to show some of the positive aspects of the Glades Friday during a meeting called by Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce officials and attended by them, County Commissioner Bill Bailey and Belle Glade City Commissioner Dorothy Walker.

The first ideas to come out of the meeting was to create a better image through a joint effort, to create a speakers bureau and to try to get news media from without the area to take a look at the Glades, a complete look and not just the worst side of the area.

Those were good ideas, all of them, and they're a good start but they're just that, a start.

People in the news media know better than anyone that it would be impossible for the people in the Glades to force newsmen from other areas to accentuate the Glades positive. That can't be done, nor should it be.

On the other hand, it would be hoped there remains somewhere in those representatives of the media a desire to show a balanced picture rather than relying on the sensationalism which was a part of the biased reporting we've seen lately in the Fort Lauderdale Sun-Sentinel, the Post and NBC.

The bias shown by Chris Wallace and his NBC team, when they were doing their documentary on migrant farmworkers was so plain at least one spokesman for Channel 5, NBC's local affiliate, was plainly embarrassed.

But it's a fact you can't win when you get in a battle with the editors and news directors. They

Chiropractic Today NUMB ARMS, LEGS Danger Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning and others.

Here are nine critical symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations, which are usually the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these usually spells back trouble.

(1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals indicate that your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these danger signals . . . call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

This is one time we need to do our homework

by H. G. Duncan

With the election coming up in November, we have a tendency to not really do our homework in deciding upon the best candidate. We have three major ones running for the President, and most (if any) thoughts go into deciding the one of the three we shall vote for. We don't give a heck of a lot of thought to the other options, and decide that the ones who are in are doing a fairly good job, so we'll vote for them.

It's going to take more than that type of decision-making in order to place in office the ones who can help turn the country around. My first impulse is to "turn the rascals out" . . . vote for anyone other than an incumbent. And I don't think that is such a bad idea. After all, the ones who are in office, if not responsible for the deplorable state of things, are certainly not (collectively, at least) doing much to cure the ills. Take a look at some of the situations in this country today. We are in trouble!

People are rioting in the streets and having their felonies and capital crimes excused as the frustrations of minorities going impatient with injustice.

Crooked Congressmen, in greater numbers than ever before, are being found and damn little being done to get them out of Congress and in jail where they belong.

Dishonest judges are being bought by the astronomical amounts of money being generated by drugs. Here in Florida one highly placed judge has been convicted and one acquitted for "lack of evidence." Another late federal judge was found having cozy relationships with a drug kingpin in Dade County. These judges, many of whom are placed there by presidential appointment (for life), are no more qualified to sit in judgment than most of the ones they judge. The ones we elect are no better.

Our city suburbs are decorated by the pornography shops, the purveyors of all manner of filth which several years ago would have resulted in someone being lynched. Criminals are plying their trade and coming from court free men to sin again. Victims of their crimes get little consideration.

Property rights have been forced to defer to the human rights of the ones who violate them. Our schools have disgraced themselves in their duties. They are turning out young people who cannot read or write. We spend millions on new and colorful school buildings while ignoring the shame inside those buildings.

Teachers and policemen are striking as though they are common laborers.

Drugs are making millions of Americans out of hundreds of people and ruining the lives of hundreds of thousands of our youngsters while the federal government flounders and does little beyond lip-service to stem this ever-growing menace.

With the vast majority of people (black and white) in this country in favor of banning the busting of school children, we still waste millions of dollars and further decrease the value of education through this folly.

We have the temerity to even consider the reelection of a milquetoast who has allowed this country to slip to the depths of a third rate power and one totally deserving of the disdain of the rest of the world.

We have an "equal opportunity" program which is anything but equal. It grants "quotas" to alleged minorities while ignoring individual talents and ambitions.

We have a federal system of welfare which has sapped the individuality of Americans by paying them almost as much as they could make working.

We have liberal "free thinkers" who would have us believe that communism is harmless and just another form of government.

Our lives are controlled in large part by the malignant bureaucracies our current president has sworn to curtail, but has rather increased in size, number, and power. "Yes. We are in serious trouble. In November we should go to the polls and elect a clean sweep from city and federal offices. We should indeed throw the rascals out . . . every one of them."

The only hope is to convince those men that you have a valid tale to tell and they have an obligation to the public to provide a forum to get that tale across to the public.

Hopefully, people of good will are on the right track in the Glades towards that goal of gentle persuasion and men of good will can be persuaded.

And hopefully, the good start Friday will grow into even better ideas of getting the message across.

Protect the courthouse

Would the Hendry County Courthouse ever be torn down or altered to make way for possible four-laning of State Road 80? It may not seem likely, but groups in Nashville were actually trying to tear down a landmark of their own, the Nashville Auditorium, original home of the Grand Ole Opry, a few years back.

If the state legislature decides it needs the courtyard space to widen SR 80, which runs right in front of the courthouse in downtown LaBelle, it can do so. And that's why the Calusa Valley Historical Society's efforts to get the venerable building on the National Register of Historic Places are so important.

If included on the register, which already has more than 7,000 sites and areas listed, it would be nearly impossible for any group, governmental or not, to get the courthouse condemned and demolished. It would save the courthouse, the county's second oldest structure, from the wreck-er's ball when the wider highway comes through.

The need for a wider SR 80 is evident. Traffic flow has increased steadily on the ancient, narrow two-lanes of the Fort Myers to Palm Beach route, making it a major artery. The society doesn't dispute the need for the bigger road. It just wants to make sure the county's original courthouse is untouched by such a project.

Besides the natural aversion any county would have to tearing down its original courthouse, other reasons, economic and historical, should be enough to justify preserving the courthouse.

Hendry's courthouse is unique, with its clock-tower, balcony and white ornate columns. The columns contrast with the brownish-brick exterior. Its Mediterranean styling is distinctive and its particular design is maybe the only one of its kind in the country.

It's also a very sturdy building. The new Courthouse Building, only 15 years old, has structural problems, but the courthouse is in sound condition. If the courthouse is torn down, taxpayers would have to pay for a new one in addition to building a bigger highway.

We urge the county to get behind the Historical Society's attempts to save the courthouse and help the group get the distinguished building on the National Register of Historic Places.

WEEK

City takes correct course

Since 1950, the City of Clewiston has obtained its treated water from the U.S. Sugar Corp. The purchase of water from USSC has worked to the advantage of the city and to city residents.

Local water requirements have grown in the past few years, as have USSC losses. Currently, USSC's peak demand for water is estimated at 1.46 million gallons per day, while the peak demand for other users on the system is estimated at 2.48 million gallons per day.

Over the next 20 years, USSC's use of water is expected to decrease, while the City of Clewiston's water demand will continue growing. USSC projects that it will continue to use the same 1.46 million gallons of water on a peak day over the next 20 years. Other users will demand 4.33 million gallons per day.

Over the past few years, USSC has absorbed losses of $321,192 from selling water to the city.

When this situation was brought to the attention of Clewiston City Commissioners, there was unanimous agreement that USSC should not have to absorb losses for a service provided to the city.

There were three courses of action the city could take to remedy the situation: 1. Build the city's own water plant - an endeavor which would probably require $12 million of tax dollars. 2. Buy the USSC water plant, or 3. Increase rates to meet current-day costs.

The most economical course the city can take is to increase rates to meet costs, even if rates go up as much as 50 percent as some have said could happen.

Accordingly, commissioners have told their engineer to prepare recommendations for a water rate study.

The end result of a rate study will be to send water rates higher. Higher rates will help ensure plentiful, high quality supplies of water for many years to come.

The decision to investigate a water rate study was an intelligent one. It was the only logical course of action open to the city. In the end, it will cost local taxpayers much less than would have building or buying a water plant.

Persistence pays off on SR 80

In July, the Florida Department of Transportation announced that it planned to pave 47 miles of State Road 80 west of LaBelle, starting March 1981. A section of 4.7 mile stretch of SR 80 extending to the Lee County line was to be paved starting in April or May.

It is with a sigh of relief that we hear that plans are finally going forward to repair what has to be one of the worst stretches of road in the state.

It's not accidental that SR 80 will soon be repaired. The DOT has listed the worn-out road on its priority list for several years. It always seemed, however, that there were other sections of road within the district that needed repairs worse.

Hendry County Commissioners were instrumental in keeping the issue of repairing State Road 80 on the front burner, making sure state and DOT officials did not forget about it.

Regular county commission policy was to write monthly letters to the DOT, pointing out deficiencies and asking when relief would be provided.

During the past year, the letters had become very specific, comparing the current road needs to priorities in other counties which had been ranked ahead of Hendry County's.

And the letters had started going in July between DOT's top man in Tallahassee, William N. Rose, secretary of transportation.

Finally, a meeting was set up in July between DOT officials and county commissioners. It was announced then that plans had been finalized to proceed with the paving.

The announcement of paving plans is news that all county residents can be pleased with. It is encouraging that the county's voice was heard.

As a next step, however, attention should turn to State Road 80 east of LaBelle and U.S. 27. Both of these sections of road are showing signs of age and are dangerous in wet weather. From the intersection of U.S. 27 and SR 80 into Clewiston, half of U.S. 27 is under water in a heavy rain.

Drivers take their lives in their hands trying to drive through the four or five inches of water which accumulate in the slow lane of U.S. 27.

Glades residents are pleased with the state road work which has been promised and would like to see more plans being made.

Growth of government

Florida Chamber of Commerce members reported in 1979 that their number one concern is the scope and expense of government and its regulations.

Florida experienced a 30% percent increase in population between 1970 and 1979, while the number of state employees burgeoned 51.3 percent during the same period.

In 1970, state employees represented 1.16 percent of the total population. In 1979, this number had grown to 1.86 percent, or 1.34 percent of the population of 8,860,000.

The Chamber Board of Directors have endorsed a report recommending that the state employment be limited to one percent of the official estimate of the state population for the preceding year. This recommended bill would become law by 1982.

Growing government threatens "personal freedom and restricts the ability of the free enterprise system to function effectively," say chamber officials.

It should be noted that Florida's state employees per 10,000 population has remained lower than the national average. Since 1970, Florida's number of state employees per 10,000 population has risen from 105.4 to 117, while the U.S. average increased from 113.2 to 140 per 10,000. Florida, ranked 45th last year, behind Wisconsin and ahead of New Jersey.

Florida's ratio of local government employees per 10,000 has remained greater than the U.S. average. In 1970, there were 328.7 local government employees per 10,000 in Florida, versus 306.4 nationally. Last year figures rank Florida eighth nationally, behind New Jersey and ahead of Colorado, with 351 per 10,000 versus 358 nationally.

A question of management

Reprinted by permission of The Sacramento Bee.

Everyone is talking about the need to "reindustrialize" America, about the declining American industrial plant, the drop in productive growth, the loss of our competitive edge in international trade. But while business and labor and political leaders of various stripes have pointed to OPEC, inflation, recession, government regulations, taxes, federal monetary and fiscal policies and to Japanese "dumping" as the sources of our economic woes, two Harvard Business School professors, Robert Hayes and William Abernathy, have come up with a very different explanation.

German and French industries, they point out in the latest Harvard Business Review, face even greater international competitive pressures. They are even more dependent on imported oil, more heavily taxed and at least as regulated. Yet, the German rate of productivity growth is nearly four times the American rate, and the French is nearly triple ours. The difference, say the two experts, is not in external pressures, but in the heart of the beast: American business managers themselves have changed and have lost their long-term, risk-taking perspective.

If, as the Harvard analysis argues, innovation and technological breakthroughs are the key to international competitive success and to the growth and prosperity at home, then this failure of managerial nerve is as serious as any OPEC price rise. Indeed, in the present world of scarce energy, technical inventiveness may be necessary not just for growth but even for survival.

Yet, American business managers have invested less and less over the past 15 years in research and development, have put more effort into creating products that consumers already had than in anticipating future needs, and have been more eager to take over existing companies than to strike out in new directions.

The new managers are chosen precisely because they are experts at short-term profits and fast returns on investment and because they believe in diversification to reduce the risks of any single undertaking.

Sadat and ecumenism

The hope of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat to create a place of worship for Moslems, Christians and Jews on Mount Sinai is a tribute to the broad vision of this extraordinary man.

Sadat has launched an international appeal for donations to build a religious complex on Egypt's newly regained Sinai peninsula. It would consist of a mosque, a Christian church, and a synagogue on the mountain where the Bible says God gave Moses the Ten Commandments. Egyptian embassies and consulates in all nations have been authorized to accept donations, "even a few pennies," for the project.

Its purpose, President Sadat said, is to serve as a symbol of the brotherhood of man and a "lighthouse that would rekindle the spirit of co-existence and tolerance among nations." These are objectives worthy of Sadat, whose far-reaching initiatives in freeing Egypt of Soviet influence, traveling to Israel to break the ground for peace negotiations, and providing a final refuge to the dying Shah of Iran have stamped him as a statesman and a humanitarian.

The Egyptian leader is a devout Muslim and his appeal for worldwide assistance to build the ecumenical complex was issued as he went into seclusion for meditation and prayer in the final week of the holy month of Ramadan.

He has appealed for tolerance at a moment when the Middle East, particularly, is gripped by religious tensions, and the prospect for a settlement of Arab-Israeli differences is fading. Perhaps his hopeful and symbolic gesture is most appropriate at such a time.

Sadat's lonely position in the Muslim world as an architect of peace deserves sympathy and support just as his earnest effort to promote religious tolerance deserves to succeed.

Pesticide training seminar offered

BELLE GLADE — A pesticide applicator training session is being scheduled for Sept. 9 at the library conference room at the Agricultural Research and Education Center here for area personnel needing certification to use pesticides on a commercial or private basis.

The training session, which will last from 9 a.m. until noon, is being sponsored by the AREC, according to County Extension Agent Kenneth Shuler.

"The last...training session in the Glades area was offered over three years ago," Shuler said in a letter to area growers. "Many of you have new supervisors, foremen and applicators who did not receive the training while others who did participate in theoretical training may have become 'rusty' on proper application procedures and safety."

Shuler said the training will consist of audio visual presentations on proper pesticide application, safety and pest identification.

"Those persons who will be enrolled in the training to receive private applicator certification," Shuler noted, "should notify that Belle Glade Extension Office by Friday...so that a pesticide applicator study manual can be sent to them."

He said anyone needing commercial certification in any of the areas listed below should contact the office so the necessary training can be arranged.

The areas include: aerial application, agricultural pest control (animals), agricultural pest control (plants), aquatic, demonstration and research, forest pest control, ornamentals and turf, regulatory, right-of-way, seed treatment and structural.

September fishing forecast

By Lorne Racicot

The hot, muggy weather of August will still be with us, at least for the first several weeks of September. Anglers will use the same methods this month as heretofore, with few exceptions.

Daytime temperatures will continue to be on the hot side but, if the weather pattern is normal, the nights will become cooler and consequently the water temperatures should decrease somewhat. This will have the effect of bringing the bass into the shallows for a longer period of time each day.

It will still mean that the best action will be early and late most of the time. There will be periods when the greatest action will occur during the heat of the day, especially when one is fortunate enough to run into schooling bass. At such times the action can be hot and heavy while it lasts.

Noisy top-water lures fished against the lake edges will be most effective. This doesn't mean that the old standbys such as plastic worms, spoons and spinner baits won't take fish. They will. It is hard to beat the sight of a bass charging a top water lure with gusto and this is the time to do it.

Don't overlook the peppergrass beds in the deeper waters as they will be holding good populations of fish. Fly rodders using popping, or hair bugs will take their fair share as will those using lively, live shiners. You can also count on a goodly number of lunkers coming to net during this month though they won't be as common as later on.

September is also a good time to try for those large catfish that inhabit the flats. They not only give you a real battle but are excellent table fare. See "Tip of the Week" for one method of getting them.

Bluegill and shellcrackers will probably bed again this month but that is going to be entirely dependent on the weather patterns and lake temperatures. These fish will be caught by the same methods as they have been all summer long.

Now is also a good time to troll slowly using small spinner type baits which, incidentally, will also take bass and the occasional crappie in the process. Once a concentration of panfish is located live crickets and worms will add considerably to your total catch. The cooler shady places under treelines, brush piles and heavy weed cover are worth investigating.

If you get into smaller members of the species it is better to move on as fish of a size tend to stay together. Usually the larger ones will be in the vicinity.

Filleting-size panfish are worth the effort and on the dinner table will prove it. This is not to say that they are not delicious prepared in the usual way by scaling and gutting and fried whole but if you have tried them filleted you may be in for a most pleasant surprise.

It pays to watch for surface action. Many times a school of feeding bluegill will be located simply by watching what is going on around you. A specific example of this is when there is a "chirpy" hatch on. The gills are literally leaping out of the water to get at these little delicacies and appear to lose all of their normal caution about leaving cover. For the fly rod it may be as close to heaven as he will ever get. Small popping bugs leaning to brown and yellow in color is sizes 8 through 12 will produce strikes on just about every cast.

These fish can get very selective however, so it may be necessary to move now and then for short periods then retracing your pattern repeatedly. It may also be necessary to reduce your tipset to four pound test rather than six or eight pound. There are many who prefer a two pound test tipset at times like these but the problem here is that the wear and tear on this light monofilament weakens them quickly resulting in breakage and the loss of popping bugs. Also the loss of precious time.

Live crickets and live worms will take their share. Just fish them shallower than when going after bedding fish. The fish caught under these conditions tend to run somewhat larger than average, so for those using fyrods, limber cane poles or ultra light tackle it can be a ball. Don't think they won't put a bend in your rod, regardless of what type you use, because they certainly will.

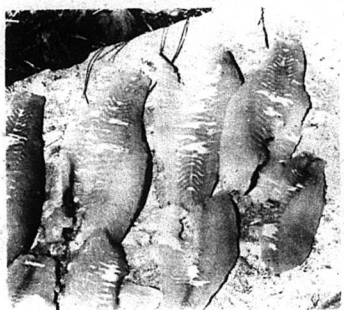

You can start your own feeding frenzy by using a hookless plug and casting it into trees which indicate evidence of a hatch. When the plug is agitated among the branches or leaves a vertical shower of the insects will hit the water. It won't be long before the gills are slurping them up like crazy giving you your opportunity to thin their ranks.

It won't happen right away but later in the month, in addition to previous culms dealing with the taking of crappie (speckled perch), try drifting over long reaches using several rods and different lures such as the plastic grub and spinner combinations, hair jigs and floss jigs. Use various colors so that you are presenting a fairly good spectrum. A Missouri minnow fished in this manner will also produce.

How deep you fish will depend on many factors but suffice it to say that these fish are far ranging and are a mid-level rather than a bottom fish therefore fish each line at a different depth until contact is made, then fish all lines at the same approximate level. Many old-timers are agreed that a speckled perch will come up for a lure or bait but seldom go down for one. This theory would appear to hold water since jugging enthusiasts must always have only three feet of line hanging from the rod tip, regardless of the depth of the water.

On the saltwater scene bonefish and permit will be in good supply from Key Biscayne down through the Lower Keys. Party boats will be featuring evening trips in this area also where grouper, snapper and yellowtail will be active.

Trout fishing in the Indian River will be on the decline though good numbers of this popular member of the weakfish family will be caught. Saltfish will leave a lot to be desired but look for redfish in the Sebastian area and north. These are large fish, generally speaking, in the 15 pound-and-up class.

Real lunkers of 30 pounds and more are not uncommon. Smaller tablefare will continue to be taken from the surf by those using shrimp and bottom rigs. Night fishermen will get some snook and their could be a flurry of kingfish action.

On the Gulf Coast, Redfish will commence their annual migration into and through the deeper passes and up on to the outside points where that old standby, the popping cork and the rig baited with shrimp, will provide action. If you are fishing within the boundaries of Everglades National Park keep in mind that their is a size and a daily bag limit on fish.

To be exact, the minimum length is 12 inches and the daily bag limit is 10. If it is a big Redfish you are after then consider using pinfish in the deeper passes where it is possible you will also pick a snook or even several. Minimum length for snook is 18 inches and daily limit of four. Sea trout (Spotted Weakfish) will be present but not in the numbers that we will see later on.

It will be just as hot, muggy and wet in the salt as it is in the sweetwater but, here again, those that rise to the challenge and put forth a real effort will get fish. So have at it!

IT WAS a wet and stormy night when Mr. and Mrs. Pat Clark of Clewiston brought in this six pound bass Tuesday, Aug. 26. They didn't mind the weather, however, in light of their catch, made at an undisclosed location.

Area fishing report

By LORNE RACICOT

Marinas and fish camps reported that they enjoyed a lot of activity this past week-end. The fish were active also in that bass, bluegill and shellcracker were caught in large numbers. Even the weatherman was co-operative in most instances. Bass averaged 2 1/2 to three pounds with fish over eight pounds being taken. They are in excellent condition.

Bluegills and shellcrackers were also of good size and condition. Jack Paulus of Clewiston Marina tells us that live shiners were the most popular bait this past few days. Fished in the deep peppergrass beds they produced fish in the 8 pounds plus category. Guides Lloyd Forbus and Sarge Creech, fishing the Eastwall with live shiners brought in 16 to over 7 pounds. The Eastwall was also the scene of bedding bluegill who responded to live crickets along with a scattering of shellcrackers who preferred live worms.

Tiny Barnes of Uncle Joe's Camp in Moore Haven reports a lot of Bass caught up to six pounds. The lake edge in the area of Mayaca Out produced best.

Live shiners and black grape worms were the popular offerings as far as the bass were concerned. Bluegills and shellcrackers are bedding on the canal edges. Live crickets for the gills and live worms for the 'crackers are best.

Most people I talked to expect the good fishing to continue all this next week. Remember the best time to go fishing...is any time you can.

Tip of the week

While apparently little known and not often practiced, except by few, there is some rewarding fishing available to those wanting to try something different.

Several fishermen of my acquaintance use the following method to take good numbers of catfish and some of good size too. Fish to 20 pounds are not uncommon.

First, most use a balcasting outfit spooled with a minimum 20 pound test line. Next a barrel (sliding) sinker is put on the line. A swivel is then attached to the line followed by an 18 to 14 inch length of 25 pound test line.

All that's left is to bait up with dead, repeat dead, shiners. To fish the fast dirt slowly across muddy banks and similar areas. It appears that the action of the heavy sinker (it should be pegged) bouncing over the bottom and stinging up the silt attracts the catfish who, on seeing the bait close by does his thing and you are both in business.

These are strong fish and though they are not a surface battler put an exceptional fight and put an exceptionally nice feast on the table.

Community Calendar

Lazy summer is great while it lasts but there's something invigorating about getting winter activities underway. And these next few weeks of the calendar will be filled with news of first meetings of the fall.

If your group hasn't sent us the program for the year, please do it now and we'll keep tabs on your meetings - letting everyone know when and where you're getting together and other news of your goings-on.

Surely one of the most active and enthusiastic groups around are the Business and Professional Women. Kathi Ligon of the Pahokee BPW promises "Exciting things" ahead. The group met for a business session Tuesday night and will have an Orientation Program at its Sept. 16 meeting, 7:30 p.m. at the Canal Point Baptist Church. It is a dinner meeting and open to all who are interested. But please call Kathi beforehand to make reservations.

Belle Glade BPW, which meets the second Monday of the month, will lead off the winter program Sept. 8 at a 7 p.m. meeting, at the home of Iversie Ashley. Plans will get underway for the Tri-City meeting they'll host in October at the Civic Center. And in February, a district BPW session is scheduled in Belle Glade with Susan B. Anthony as the invited speaker.

Area garden clubs are looking ahead to Oct. 15 when the Belle Glade Garden Club will host District 10 members at a day-long session at the Belle Glade Elks Club.

Meanwhile, the Belle Glade group will start off the year with a luncheon Sept. 11 at the home of Rada Brackins. Husbands and wives of members will be guests and take part in a plant exchange.

The Chosen Garden Club will begin the year's activities Sept. 17 with a covered dish luncheon at the home of Nan Draa. The flower specimen designated for the meeting is the hibiscus and the arrangement of crotons.

Mrs. Joan Thompson will be hostess to the Belle Glade Garden Study Club at its Sept. 12, 9:30 a.m. meeting. "The Use of Conservation in Landscaping" is the topic and the speaker will be Loretta Hodyss of the county extension service.

Members of the Pahokee Garden Club resume their 10 a.m. meetings Tuesday, Sept. 16, in the Everglades Federal Savings & Loan Association community room. According to Bernice Simonson, program chairman, the initial meeting will feature a slide presentation on "Wild Flowers of Florida." Hostesses will be Dorothy Stanley, Frances White-side, and Marion Blech.

Pahokee Woman's Club will open the new year of activities at a Wednesday, Sept. 10 luncheon meeting and business session at noon.

Xi Alpha Mu chapter begins the fall calendar of events Thursday night with an 8 o'clock meeting at the home of Kathryn Cunningham, Pahokee. Theme of the session will be "America, Our Way of Life."

These three four-year-olds draw a crowd on the dike at Pahokee as they skim along the lakeshore on water skis. The three have been swimming since they were 13 months old - about the same time they were learning to walk. They were taught to swim by Jim Quinn of West Palm Beach.

Their skis are designed for beginners and are roped together until the kids are better able to coordinate, but it doesn't keep them from taking off right at the shoreline.

The youngsters are, from left, Kelly Culberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Culberson; Holly Branch, daughter of Chip Branch, and Billy McKinstry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinstry, Jr. Their teacher is Holly's father, Chip, who is a skier at Cypress Gardens.

PBJC Central lists courses for women

Courses designed to help women enhance their skills, and talents, or meet problems in business and personal relationships are being offered at Palm Beach Junior College during the fall term.

Advance registration is being held at the Continuing Education Office, located in the northeast corner of the first floor of the Administration Building, 4200 Congress Ave., Lake Worth.

Among courses scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 9 with classes meeting evenings on the main campus are:

Self-Concept Enhancement, Leadership Skills for Supervisors, Understanding Self, and Managing Stress.

Beginning the week of Sept. 15, night sessions are scheduled in Sewing for the Working Woman, Dress for Success, and Financial Decision-Making.

For a full schedule of courses and information, contact the Continuing Education Office at 439-5014, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., or 439-8006, Monday through Thursday, 6 to 8 p.m.

Cardio-Vascular clinic reopens Sept. 16

BELLE GLADE - The cardiovascular screening program at Glades General Hospital, conducted by the hospital auxiliary will begin holding weekly clinics again starting Tuesday, Sept. 16.

The free clinic will be held in the old section of the hospital from 9 a.m. until noon every Tuesday. Appointments may be made by calling 996-1600. The service is available to all residents.

Anyone who has previously attended the clinic and did not return during the past year for a follow-up examination is being urged to do so now by Mrs. William Mowen, acting chairman.

A cardio-vascular check-up includes a blood test for triglycerides, cholesterol, diabetes, and uric acid, a blood pressure check, and EKG.

The clinic is staffed by auxiliary volunteers. Tests are medically evaluated, however, and cases requiring medical attention are referred to physicians.

Cook's Choice

Our first recipe of the season is from Madeleine Martin, an active member of the Belle Glade community since her arrival in 1961 when husband, Bill, became comptroller of Glades General Hospital. In addition to serving as president of the Chosen Garden Club, and treasurer of the Glades Hospital Auxiliary (Pink Ladies), Mrs. Martin is active in the Everglades Presbyterian Church, as a member of Circle One of the church women and White Cross chairman. And she still finds time for hobbies, particularly art.

The mother of three and grandmother of seven, Mrs. Martin's recipe is "something for children," she says, but it's a recipe everyone enjoys, from eight to 80.

Carrot Sailboats

Cook 6 large carrots, and cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out and fill with following mixture:

1/4 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. pepper
1/2 cup grapes
1 1/2 cups cooked rice
1 Tbsp. milk

Brown in oven 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Decorate with sails made from paper and attach with toothpicks.

... and whatnot

by Ailsa Dewing

I am not of the mathematical persuasion.

A triangle has three pointy corners. That I know. But given a trapezoid (as math teachers are wont to say), I would give it back. Since I haven't the vaguest idea what to do with one, why should I care how big it is?

A circle is a circle because it's round. I don't need to prove it's round because I draw it with my yo-yo. And anybody knows a yo-yo doesn't go if it's off-center.

The basic difficulty my math teachers had was not being able to accept the fact that because I had solved a problem on Monday, I could still do it on Tuesday. Let alone next January.

A teacher once shrieked at me, "But it's the same problem we did yesterday about the man traveling from Toledo to San Francisco."

"Well, there you are," I replied deviously. "In this problem, it's a woman. And she's going to Topeka. So how can you say it's the same problem?"

People like myself don't go into the business of mathematics, obviously. We have to search for whatever other talents we either possess, can develop, or pretend to.

And an enormous bunch, it would seem, go into the word factory business - building sentences out of whatever facts, fictions, sense, or nonsense we are given to work with. Having assembled large chunks of wordy stuff we peddle it.

The scribes and scribesmen write it all down for somebody else to read. The hawkers find a microphone and/or a television camera and read it to the rest of us. And those who choose to go before the cameras assume the burden of having to look pretty at the same time - leaving the uglies, I guess, to become reporters and radio paraters.

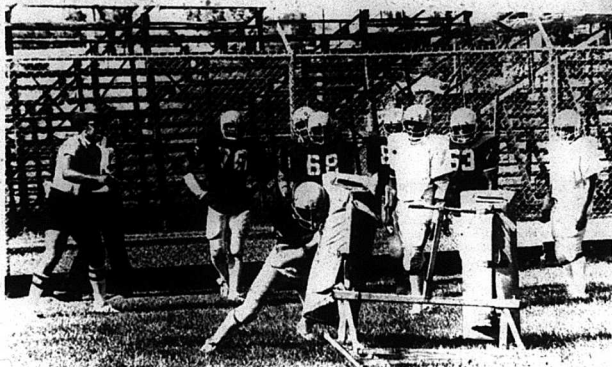

But having elected to communicate with others in the mother tongue, we supposedly assume some obligations. Like swearing on an open dictionary to keep the spelling and pronunciation of the language intact. Learning to speak and write fluent subjunctive. Never ever to let our particles dangle - always suspending them from the nearest related subject. Split infinitives must be repaired immediately. Prepositions should be stuffed somewhere inside sentences. And suchlike. (There's also a rule about complete sentences that I will look up later.)

In short, those who use the language as the tool of their trade might be expected to use it as craftsmen, treating it with the same respect any workman has for his tools and with the same precision the mathematizer has for things mathematical.

But sitting here day-by-day being bombarded by words written at me, spoken at me, and brought to me in living color, I am driven to the conclusion that there are a whole lot of wordsmiths - journalists, announcers, whatever - who might have made better mathematicians. Except for me, of course.

I CAN'T SPEAK PARABOLA

HEAD RAIDER Ben McCoy shouts encouragement and directions to a Glades Central football player slamming into a tackling sled during football drills at the local high school. McCoy's runnerup state champions are back virtually intact this year, with the exception of the interior line, and the line is where he's concentrating his efforts.

You never mistake the meaning of a Church spire. Even to those who are cold to the ideals for which the Church stands, that finger of faith always points to something that is comforting, reassuring, safe.

The very presence of a Church, whether in a crowded city street or on a quiet country road, is a benediction to all, including those who are not conscious of worship.

Such an influence, with what it means to those who open their hearts to truth, is worthy of a second thought. It merits acceptance as a refuge. It commands confidence as a port in time of storm.

The Church deserves your support — your membership — because it affords real protection for the family whose welfare it is your duty to defend and whose proper upbringing is your solemn obligation.

Taking It From the Top

By REV. DAVID T. EVANS
Everglades Presbyterian Church

Tuesday, September 2, the people of Florida, Palm Beach County, and the Glades, will go to the polls to vote in the First Primary for national, state, county and city officials.

Citizens of the U.S. are given the privilege of voting by the Constitution. However, only 71 per cent have registered to vote. Nearly three out of ten can't vote because they haven't taken the time to register.

Election time brings up the matter of citizens' responsibility. It is not only irresponsible to not vote but irresponsible to fail to express an opinion about issues which come before the legislative bodies.

Voting, as we have said, is a privilege and is not to be taken lightly. Sunday, Aug. 31, the Palm Beach Post had a special section on the 1980 election and views of the candidates on important issues. Voters taking their privilege seriously would do well to read this section or similar information before voting for candidates.

Now also is the time to encourage friends and family to vote and if not eligible to vote on Tuesday to register so they can vote in the November election.

After voting, Christians still have a further responsibility to support those in office until they are replaced. The Apostle Paul encourages support of the governing authorities in Romans 13:1-8. He calls on us to be subject to authorities, for they receive their authority from God. Sometimes this is hard to accept but we live in a system where the possibility exists that wrongs will be righted.

We, as Christians, believe in the sovereignty of God and His ultimate purpose. In His purpose we are to be within the system and encourage those who govern. Even if we don't like the officials, we are to pray for them and to be subject to them until they are replaced.

Let us be thankful we live in a country where authority is usually used to let us do all we can to do that this is continued. Let us get out and vote for responsible government officials and then support them with our interest and cooperation.

Finally, let us pray for those who are running for office that their motives may be good and that their actions conform to the best interests of the people.

Florida Gardening

By DR. ROBERT J. BLACK
Urban Horticultural Specialist

Everyone is looking for ways of reducing the time spent maintaining their lawn. A vigorous St. Augustine lawn may require mowing as often as every two days — a time better spent doing other chores in the yard or playing your favorite sport.

One way of reducing your lawn maintenance time, enhancing the beauty of your landscape is by replacing areas of your lawn with ground covers. Ground covers are particularly useful in difficult to maintain areas such as strips of ground between sidewalks, drives or walls. Areas of dense shade where grasses will not perform adequately may benefit from certain ground covers.

Important considerations in selection of ground covers are: plant type, growing conditions and maintenance. Plant type should satisfy aesthetic and practical needs of the landscape design. Plants used for ground covers vary from dicentra and lippia, which have characteristics and maintenance requirements similar to grasses, to low growing, spreading shrubs such as yucca and dwarf forms of yucca, freedom, and carissa. Low growing shrubs are particularly helpful in areas where foot traffic is a problem. Mass plantings of perennial flowers such as daylilies make effective ground covers that provide color at certain times of the year.

Like other plants in the landscape, ground covers require some maintenance. Newly planted areas will need special attention until they are well established.

The growth rate of the ground cover can be used to determine the amount of fertilizer to apply. Vigorous growing ground covers such as wandering jew require more fertilizer than slower growing woody plants like euphorbia. A complete fertilizer such as 6-6-6, 8-8-8, 12-4-8 or a similar mixture applied at the rate of 2 to 4 lbs. in the spring and mid-summer is adequate for most ground covers. An additional application in the fall may be applied to vigorously growing ground covers.

Watering requirements vary with different plants. Carolina yellow jessamine, for example, requires a fairly moist soil, while the fig marigold tolerates dry sandy soils with only occasional waterings to supplement natural rainfall. Watering can be an as needed basis in ground covers where ground cover plants should not be allowed to wilt.

Weed control in ground cover areas is somewhat difficult. Herbicides are not recommended since they may adversely affect the growth of most ground cover plants. Care should be taken when applying herbicides on lawn areas close to beds of broad-leaved ground covers to prevent spray drift which may severely damage the plants.

Mulching along with hand weeding will usually control weeds until the ground cover has become established. Once a planting is well established, the plants usually compete very well with undesirable plants.

Some of the most adaptable ground covers are native Florida plants — carolina yellow jessamine, coontie or zamia, dicentra, gopher apple, several ferns, beach morning glory, and partridgeberry.

If your home is in a location where salt is a problem and grass is difficult to grow, include salt-tolerant ground covers in your landscape.

Some of the best are beach morning glory, coontie, dichondra, climbing fig, fig-marigold, algerian and English ivy, shore-juniper, lantana, lily-turf, lippia, liriope, and wedelia.

Many ground covers are excellent for shaded areas — arbutus plant, bugle-weed, coontie, ferns, ivies, lily-turf, liriope, persea, selaginella, wandering jew, and wedelia.

Peggy Evatt has said, "People are my top priority." She has proved it.

Christian Thoughts

SALVATION BY FAITH IN CHRIST

By WILLE JO YOUNG
I am lost, how can I be saved? "For the Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." Luke 19:10. You can be saved through Jesus Christ. "I am the door by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture." John 10:9.

Only through the blood of Jesus Christ can you be saved, Jesus died upon the cross for all our sins. His blood was shed to redeem us from lying, stealing, murdering, blaspheming and many other sins; from all of these Christ's blood can redeem us. Day in and day out can we serve Jesus and find green pasture; happiness, love, joy, peace within your heart, soul and mind.

"Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived neither fornicators, nor idolaters, (worship or idol anything other than God) nor adulterers, nor effeminate (men showing qualities of women or women showing qualities of men), nor abusers of themselves with mankind, nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God." 1 Corinthians 6:9-10.

"But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves." James 1:22.

Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous. He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. 1 John 3:7,8.

"The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and good." Proverbs 15:3. Choose this day your Master, I pray that you choose Jesus Christ.

Pest-free sugar cane is this scientist's objective

CANAL POINT — A new research entomologist now on board at the USDA Sugar-

Cane Research Station here said this week he hopes to introduce a new method of pest control by breeding varieties of cane resistant to pests.

Dr. Omelio Sosa Jr. said plant resistance is one of three ways to attack pests such as the sugar cane borer, offering an alternative to the use of insecticides and other insects to control the pests.

"Some varieties have a resistance to sugar cane borers," Dr. Sosa said. "Others don't. This form of pest control hasn't been used here before. When you have a pest problem, you try to use everything you have against it. Previously, the growers went straight to insecticide but now we try an integrated pest management using all three methods."

Sosa said he will also be doing some work in the control of grub and wire worms but he'll concentrate on the borer because that's the worst pest in sugar cane.

Dr. Sosa is a native of Cuba who was graduated in 1964 from Oklahoma State University with a bachelor of science degree in the Glades area of animal science and agricultural economics. After graduation, he worked with the USDA Agricultural Research Service Sanil Grains Insect Pests Research Unit in West Lafayette, Ind. While employed there, he attended Purdue University and obtained an M.S. degree and a Ph.D. with majors in entomology specializing in plant resistance to insects.

While working at the post in Indiana, his job involved individual and team research in protection of small grains from insect damage through non-chemical methods involving genetic manipulation of both the host plant and the insect pest.

He was a member of an entomological research team whose research program involved the development of small grain varieties resistant to insect pests, primarily the Hessian fly and cereal leaf beetle. He holds memberships in the Entomological Society of America, the American Entomologists, Sigma Xi and the Indiana Academy of Science.

ELECT Ed GARRISON COUNTY JUDGE SEPTEMBER 9th

To improve the Judicial System, we need the energy and enthusiasm that Ed Garrison will provide as a full-time Judge. Everyone knows that we need good Judges to make our system work properly.

County Court is really the people's court. It encompasses Traffic Court, Small Claims Court, Criminal Misdemeanors and Civil Suits up to $5,000. More people come in contact with the Judicial System at the County Court level than at all of the other levels combined. Yet the majority of voters have never had any contact with the courts. So how do you intelligently choose a Judge? Ask the people who come in contact with the system regularly.

Ed Garrison is supported by his fellow attorneys, law enforcement officers and Courthouse personnel.

Common Sense Tips

Hints For Homeowners

DRYERS
When first introduced about 40 years ago, dryers just dried clothes. Although they did a good job of drying and made laundry days a lot easier, they were certainly a far cry from the convenience that modern dryers offer.

Dryers are efficient wet savers that can handle all types of fabrics from heavy denim blue jeans to permanent press items - washable knits and delicate garments to room air temperature drying for items such as plastics that can't stand heat.

Here's some advice from Whirlpool home economists to help you get the best drying results from your dryer:
• Remove clothes immediately when the cycle ends. This is especially critical when drying permanent press or synthetic fiber items because when warm clothes fall to the bottom of the dryer drum, the heat may cause wrinkles to set.
• Avoid over-drying. Over-drying can cause shrinkage. The natural composition of fibers includes moisture that should not be removed. When clothes are dry to the feel or have a slight trace of dampness, remove them.

• Avoid drying heavy items like terry towels with lightweight items like lingerie. By the time towels are dry, the slips will be over-dried.

SWANN ON SPORTS

By Lynn Swann
National Director
H.C. COOPERSON
No one seems to know who played the first baseball game, but as long as 1700, the Rev. Thomas Wilson of Maidstone, Kent, England, wrote disapprovingly that the game was being played on Sundays. English novelist Jane Austen also mentioned baseball in Northanger Abbey in 1798. By that time several primitive forms of the game were being played in the United States.

Do you know how baseball got its name? At one time bases were marked by stakes, but these frequently caused injuries. They were replaced, first by stumps, later by sand-filled sacks. Soon the sacks were identified as "bases," and the game of "baseball" was so named.

The one millionth run scored in the history of major league baseball was recorded on May 4, 1975 when Houston Astro's Bob Watson crossed homeplate. It's estimated that the two millionth run will occur on June 12, 2042.
